MANUFACTORIES IN LOUISVILLE. To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

Louisville may enter at once on a new career of pressenty. The present opportunities were never surpassed. They invite the immediate action of her intelligent citizens, and the application of their capital, and energy, and enterprise, to reap the harvest, which, in the event of the neglect of Louisville, will be garnered by the more enterprising cities of the East and West. Louisville enjoys a position for attaining and retaining the trade of a considerable ction of the Sonthweste:n States; if her mercantile and commercial interests be conducted with vigor and tact, as they have been heretoore, this source of local prosperity may be reatly enlarged. But the most useful and profitable pportunities which now demand the practical ntion of the business men of this city, and which, if embraced, will most extend the general and personal growth of the wealth of the ecple of the place, are those for the establishnext of manufactories of various kinds which are especially adapted to a town in this section of country. We already see what rapid strides our iron interest has made in a few years, and the products of Louisville mannfactories in wool and leather might also casily command the market of a wide territory, and the capital invested in such interprise would find prompt and

There is, we suppose, no impropriety in referring, in a public journal, to what is in all men's months. The extraordinary speech of Presipent Johnson on Thursday has been attributed to a weakness to which it is universally understeed he is occasionally addicted. Dispatches from Washington effirm that the speech was made under no such influence. His frieuds, certainly, will regret to hear that the best excuse that could be offered for it can no longer be pleaded in palliation.

Rev. Dr. Cheever preached at the Church of the Puritans, New York city, on Sunday last. n his sermon he referred to distinguished men of the nation who addressed the people at Occper Institute (Seward, Dennison, and others) as liars and hypocrites, and said if God was going to acmit ench persons as these into heaven, he (Cheever) did not want to go there. THE RIGHTS OF SOUTHERN LOYALISTS SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED. DALTON, GA., March 1, 1866. o the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

I have been watching with great interest for evelopments of the principles by which the isombleans seek to justify the wholesale exhibition of the Congressional delegates from the tet "so-called Confederate States of America." received from a friend a core, of Gen. E. received from a friend a copy reau's speech in Congress on the the powers of the Freedmen's b the powers of the Freedinch's Bureau, and was very much pleased at its general tone and tenor. I was satisfied that General Rousseau would take a liberal and practical view of the matter, and maintain it firmly. In the course of his remarks he adverted to the report of Mr. Delance, and quoted a queetion put to Mr. Delance, and quoted a queetion put to Mr. Delance answer; and to say I was started and astonished at the principle involved in the answer tut poorly represents what I thought and felt. Mr. Conkling asked Mr. Delance was the cilierence, not as a matter of elemency and discretion, but of lew, between a claim presented by a loyal person and one presented by a disloyal one, provided both lived in one of the States that attempted to secede; and Mr. Delance and nunced "there was nene." "That all the cilierens of these States, as a matter of law, stood upon the same platform." If Mr. Delance is to be regarded as the exponent of the principles of the Republican party, and if the party is to stand or isli with that principle, their fate is scaled. There is neither law, logic, nor pathiotin in it, and its enunciation at this time is no-so much to evade the payment of the claims of loyal men who live South, as to justify them selves in excluding the whole Southern Congressional delegation, some of whom are, and were, as devotedly loyal as the most loyal men residing North of Mason and Dixon's line. The Republicans have sought to apply to the present state of things in the Linted States the rules which govern reparate and independent rations at war with each other. The rule In that case is that all the citizens of each are to be regarded and dealt with as enemies by the other, without any reference to what may be the private feelings and views of such citizens. All the citizens of each nation are regarded by the other as a unif, having in view and trying to effect a common object; that is, to injure the other.

crime for which he may be punished, but the decement is worthless; it is a unlility. It is evidence of the rascality of the forger, but fastens no obligation on the person whose mule is forged. It deprives him of no rights; and so with the ordinance of secession. The excessionists were guilty of treason, but their States whose names were used to effect a par-poses are not bound, and incurred; no penalty A mere nullity in law creates no liability, it

The sescribon and adoption of this extraordinary principle by the leaders of the Republican parity may te, and possibly is, the result of their not drawing a distinction between cases where nations foreign to each other are at war, and where the citizens of one were never subjects of or owed allegiance to the other, can cases of rebellion or civil war, where the belligerents were all originally citizens and subjects of and owed allegiance to the same Government. In the case of foreign States at war with each other, neither was ever bound to interfere in protecting the citizens of the other, even in time of peace, much less so while at war. That protection was left to the Government that claimed the alingiance of the injured parity, for allegiance is the consideration, the price paid for protection. Allegiance and protection are mutual and reciprocal rights and obligations on the part of clitzen and Government. The citizen owes allegiance to his Government, the Government was protection to its citizens; one is the consideration for the other; and where the citizen renders to his Government what is due, the Government is bound by every principle of justice, burner and divine, to protect him; and, if unable to protect at the moment, it is equally teemed to seek and enforce indemnity; and it circumstances render that impossible, it must itself assume the task; for it is but the fulfillent of the other and of our protect him; and, if unable to and from a government agree with each biotted out of existence, and something (no matter what) of more force and power adopted as a substitute. In the late struggle, but few of the citizens of the South took up arms in defense of the Federal Government—perhaps not more than one in nicety—but thece who did deserve the more credit, for they were faithful amongst the faithless. Some were hunted from their homes withcops like wild beasts, and joined the Union forces wherever they could find them. Their projectly was destroyed or confiscated and their families benished, loaded with insults and ignorally. Others said at home, organized themselves as well as they could, and fought it out in defense of their hearthstones and comestic altars When overpowered, they fled to their mountain fastnesses. When the Union forces preterated the country they returned to their homes, or the places that had been their homes, and found the land, and little else. They had pelifed their all in the way of property, and loet. Their farms were desolated; they were ruined.

When Gen. Lee invaded Pennsylvania many of the chizens were plundered by his soldiers. It is army subsisted on the country. He carried his base of supplies with him. Of those thus plundered, many were "copperheads," men who were known to be infinical to the Union. After Lee was driven out, those men presented their claims for indemnity, and were paid. They were men who were known to be it their duties and obligations as clivers; men who never lifted at arm in defence of the Union, or encouraged any one else

FUPPRINTENDENT OF PIEBLE INSTRUCTION THE THE STATE OF TENNESSEE.—The recent developments made in the wonderful physical resources of our State, have shown that Tenuestee, in material wealth, if the requisite enterpies and capital be not wanting, will cook stand foremest among all the States of the Union. While we gladly receive this as a glatrious fact, it behove us to hook even more closely to the educational interests of our great commonwealth. The people who dwell in a six d possessed of such latent wealth should be clucated to a correct view and knowledge of the education of that his interests. One should be selected whose life is devoted to the cance of education; whose scholarship and ability are universally acknow-ledged; whose high standing among the literati, not slove of our Stete, but of all the States of our Union, will give character and insure success to the great enterprise of which he is to stend head.

For their position we would suggest and nominise Tennessee's great linguist and educator; N. Lawrence Lindsley, L. L. D., of Lebauon. Just in the prime of manbood, his life, like that of his noble father before him, the late President Philip Lindsley, has been devoted to equeational jurposes. His very name is associated with the interests of letters and histocian. As Professor of Ancient and Midera Languages in Cumberland University, his same is wheely extended over the South and South-west. Afterward, he established a select reminary for young ladies at his beantiful residence, near Lebanon, which, nutil suspended by the war, stood foremost for its thorough intrinction and peculiar advantages. But it is not simply as an educator that Doctor Lindsley is known among the literary celebrities of America. As a linguist, as a critic whose favorable opinion is eggrify ought, as the perfect and accomplished scholor, he stands in a nost enviable light. We think the educational interests of our State at large could be most impilelily entitusted to his hands, could he be incured to leve his present congenial pursuits and abode,—Nasheille Disputch.

The brave reflow hastily retreated. His demonstrations excited the rest of the party, and the whole crew, shricking and trembling, deserted the house for a season. An elderly negress, more courageons than the others, went into the dwelling, ascertained the state of affairs, and, with Christian broossin, administered to the necessities of the dad-alive one.
Search was then made for the retreaters, who, being found at a neighbor's, returned to the donniel they had so shamefully absandoned.

Dr. Bell, tormerly of Greenville, South Carolina, who has attended the lady during the past ix months, assures us that these are unwarnished facts, and present no new truths to the medical profession. We expect to hold a mass-meeting in this city to-morrow of the citizens of Mason county, and men of all parties will be there to join hand in hand in the act of indorsing and approving the course of the President in the decided steps he has taken on the subject of the colous and oppressive Freedmen's Burean bill. We could have wished that he had possessed the power to altogether remove this heavy burden from the rights of the people of the Sonth; but the act he has performed already is an earnest of his future intentions. RADICAL ABUSE OF THE PRESIDENT.—The spinglield Republican (Rep.) thus notices the untpouring of the radical wrath upon the President:

ident:

The colored visitation to the White House has accomplished its obvious purpose. It has given occasion for a treeh onslampt upon the President. The Worcceter "Freedom Club" has premptly issued its anotherm against him for declaring against forced negro suffrage in the Bonth, in which they say that he "rivals the inberent injustice and meanness that belongs to men brought up in slavery." Rev. Mr. Hepworth, white Unitarian, and Rev. Sella Martin, black Baptist, in Bosion, preached angrily about the President on Sanday, both alike grossly cariceturing the President'e pesition, and denouncing him for treachery to the canse of freedom and humanity, of which there is no proof in his words or acts. The Worcester Spy prints a letter from Washington intil of scandalous personal abuse of the President, and follows it up with an editorial attack, in which the extremists who stand in the way of the restoration of the Union "must go ont of the way."

A great, living system of public instruction, embracing in its limits the whole State, is what is want.d. It is absolutely necessary to the prosperity and future well-being of our people, it will correct the fearfully increasing demoralization of the times more than any thing else, it will raise the standard of public morality, and save us from ever again undergoing the bitter experience of the past four years.

We think our present Legislature would do well to look into this matter. If they will enact a thorough system of public instruction, they will deserve and command the gratitude, not only of this generation, but of many that are enly of this generation, but of many that to ioliow. Our readers will be glad to hear of the return of Her Majesty's ship Princess Royal and His Imperial Majesty's ship Duplex, from Hiogo—a'most simultaneously with the mail texamer last evening at half past six o'clock.

All the news they bring is most satisfactory. The European ministers did not themselves go to Osaca, but Her Majesty's gnubout Bonner went backward and forward every day with dispatches. At length one of the great ministers of state went down to Hiogo, and had an interview of five hours with our representatives. The various demands of the treaty power were laid down, and ten days given for decision upon the matter of the rail.

General Grant then brish responded, thanking the Club for their high appreciation of himself and his deeds, which he considered as nothing compared with what the humblest soldiers in the ranks had done and suffered on bloody fields and in rebel prisons. He hoped ever to cherish the memory of the occasion, and would a sign the portrait of the illustrious we cran to the post of honor among the ornaments of his household, and it should ever remain in his family. NECESSITY OF SOUTHERN SUPPORT OF THE PRESIDENT.—The great means the Revolution-ists now rely upon for the defeat of the President and the overthrow of the Constitution is to rouse the old anti-slavery prejudices of the country against him. This is evidently their great card, and they think It will be effective. In the accomplishment of this design, they seek to make it appear that there is a settled purpose on the part of the people and States of the South to result the regro again to practical slavery, to defeat the object of the Constitutional Amendment, and secure by State legislation what they apparently gave up. They further represent the prevalence of the most terrible outrages upon the freedmen in various localities. Every circumstance that does occur n any part of the South that can be pressed into their service is eagerly seized upon, dis-torted and magnified, and described in the most exciting language that can inflame the passions of the North. We may expect that frequently events which never occur will be basely fabricated out of whole cloth, just as they need to he fabricated when the cry was, 'Down with the Constitution and the Union." We may expect that the Radicals will endeavor to show a sudden increase of oppressive acts of vioence against the freedmen in consequence of the reto of the Bureau bill. They already charge the President with the responsibility of all such acts. They declare that he has abandoned the freedmen to their fate, and that that fate is the as vasily important that a popular demonstravirtual restoration of slavery. They adduce every possible circumstance having any bearing upon the question to prove that the freedmen | the interests, nor for the benefit, of any set of are without protection from the States in which they live, and that the only shield they have or | ing a clear, and definite, and positive expreacan hope to have from outrage and oppression is from the Bureau, whose efficiency, they allege, has been crippled and nearly destroyed by the Executive veto of the blil enlarging its powers. They represent the Southern people we want it as a grand uprising of the people of all parties to back Andrew Johnson against his as the enemies of the freedmen, and that unless the Government protects them they will be beenemies. Such a mass convention as we have wond the pale of protection. This, we say, is announced for the 7th of May (and which, we exactly the line of argument the Revolutionists can assure our neighbor, we have been urged to will pursue, it is the line they are now pursu nnounce by men of all parties in different ing, in order to raise a moral whirlwind of cortions of the State), will do Kentncky i slavery passions against the policy of the more good at home and abroad than ail the President. These are the means they intend to duty of the Southern States, as they desire the sentatives in Congress. Such a movement will triumph of the President, as they wish for the be of the people and for the people, who are c mplete restoration of their civil rights, as they value their present and fntnre peace and prosperity and happiness, as they want to repair the ravages of the war and make the desert som like the rose, to meet this line of in mass-meetings, when the popular heart deargnment of the Revolutionists, and to emasonlate and annihilate its force and effect in the own expression to make, and is fully entitled to only practicable way in which it is possible to be heard. We hope that our neighbor will ando it. It is the solemn duty of the Southern | nounce the mass meeting in his columns, and, States to come up practically to the support of the President-if they intend to support himfrankly, directly, promptly, and resolutely. is a great emergency. The simile which Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, used the other day in the Senate to illustrate it is most apt and striking. He compared it to a rill trickling down the mountain's side, which a spadeful of earth could turn one way or the other, but which, left till it is swollen into a mighty torrent in the gorges, all the enginery upon earth could not stop or control. We pray our friends-we mean the friends of the South and of the Union or of the Union and of the South, as the read er pleases-not to ignore or underestimate the supreme importance of the questions at issue between the President and his opponents. We take it that the South does not want another conflict, and especially that she does not wish her soil made desolate, inconceivably desolate and tarbarous, by a war of races, a fate which, desire! the President "in a contest with Radicals," we deem, can only be averted by the triumph of the policy and principles which the President | whilst your assertion is unretracted, that his The South ought to understand clearly, and the republic, concedes everything the Radicals

Among the first sentences of his veto message is this: "I have the strongest desire to secure to freedmen the full enjoyment of their freedom and their sun, reconstruction included, or support the Lincoln's measures against the war and after property, and their entire independence and equal-'y in making contracts for their labor." Can anything be more emphatic and ontspoken than that? Is there any mistaking it? A few days afterward, in an Interview with Gov. Cox. of Ohio-whose letter, indorsed by the Executive, we have before published - referring to the dmen's Bureau, he said that he had used it and is still using it, and in the mean time he uld say to the South, "It depends on yourselves to say whether the Burean shall be discontinued at an early day; for I will put an end to it just as soon as you, by protection of the reedmen, make it nunecessary." We had a margin of time lasting till after the next session of Congress, during which the present Freedmen's Burean could couldne in operation. If, before that time, the Southern States should recognize the necessity of passing proper laws themselves, and of providing a preper system of protection for the freedmen, nothing further, on our part, would be necessary. If they did not do what they ought,
there would then be time enough to elaborate a plan.

Can anything show more distinctly than these ntterances do what his views and his intentions Can any supporter of the President pretend to misapprehend them? No man, no press, no State can support the President without supporting this policy, for this is his policy in reference to this question. It is mere childshness or fraud to pretend otherwise. Asking him to remove the Freedmen's Bureau before State laws have been passed to protect the freedmen in person and property equally with the whites is simply asking him to stuitify himself and to give his enemies an opportunity administration. to crush him. They got no money. we understand, but robbed the ladies of many valuable articles of jewelry and pinudered diferent parts of the house of clothing. After getting what they could safely carry, the deprers effected their escape before an alarm could be given. This same villainous crowd ned at Zimlick's tavern, near the house of Mrs. Lowe, at the usual hour on Saturday, as appears from the identical descriptions of the tavern keeper and the persons robbed. The Chief of Police, being informed of this daring yesterday morning, sent officers Bligh and Gilchrist to look after the robbers. On the premises of Mrs. Lowe itary buttons, showing the maranders to have een soldiers or men in the diaguise of soldiers. The police are continuing their pursuit of the miscreants, whose capture we hope soon to announce. This bold transaction should cause our citizens in the country to be more watch. ful. A well charged shot-gun, in the above case, would have given an immediate cine to the Vikings.

THERE'S ABOUT .- Friday morning last, about half past two o'clock, some burglar or burglars entered the eight store of Wm. Shurer, on Green a'reet, between Third and Fourth streets. They succeeded in obtaining an entrance by prising either to come through the United States Hotel. or climb over the small houses in the rear of the building, and therefore didn't take such a quentity as they would out wise have done. They opered boxes, scattered cigars around the room, crened the money-drawer, which, fortnnately, contained only some small change and two silver dimes, whi h they nuhesitatingly took. They next went to the boxes of chewing tohacre suppose, if they don't se'l it, to last them for be balance of their wretched lives. There was a very time violin lying near by in its box, but trouble to carry, being overloaded with tohaceo.

The police are after them and will do their best to bring the culprits to justice. No cleu has been discovered that can point suspicion to flot to Assassinate Pres't Johnson.

Another Circular from the Treasurer The Cooper Institute Resolutions.

To the Associated Press New Haven, Conn., March 2. A ronsing Fenian meeting was held here tonight in answer to the call of President O'Mahony. Numerous addresses were made, and several hundred dollars invested in Irish bonds.
A dispatch was received from President O'Maheny, stating that there was a fair prospect that the Prish nationality would soon be recogrized by the United States and France.

The Tribune's Washington special says: Iu order to put a peremptory etop to the treasonable utterances of the Virginla press, still persisted in, the commanding officer of the department of Virginla has issued an order requiring all the publishers of newspapers in the State to send a copy of every issue to his headquarters, by mail, on the day of publication.

The Government is still realizing immense sums from the sale of unnecessary war material. During the fast two days large quantities of medicines have been disposed of, and on Thorsday next 1.885,000 articles of ciothing will be sold, together with a large number of Government buildings. The commencement of the Medical Depart ment of the University took place last evening. The degrees of Dector of Medicine was conferred upon seventy-three young gentlemen, and a valedictory address, in verse, was recited by Dr. Alfred C. Post. The venerable Chancellor informed the large audience which assembled to witness the exemonies, that the distribution of the Mott medals is to be continued in perpetuity. In accordance with the wish of the lamented Valentine Mott.

The Herald's Washington special save Gen, Spinner is continually beset with requests from pankers to procent their designation as depositors, and answers, that where it is clearly shown they are necessary for Government purposes they will be authorized.

The Secretary of the Tresnry Is about issued or the treasury agents in the Sauth ng orders to the treasury agents in the South ness, which has been a losing one to the Gov. rument, though a corresponding source of aln to the employed. The Government treasury agents have rerelived orders to commence the sale of cotton, seized by the military authorities as confiscated and abandoned property.

Secretary Stanton has ordered the liberation of all enlisted men imprisoned in this department for descrition. of all enlisted men imprisoned in this department for desertion.

The World's Washington special says Sir Freerick Bruce the British Minister, was yesday in conference with several members of the Ways and Means Committee, in regard to the recliprocity treaty recently reported by them. He informed the committee that he would like to get some additional articles in the free list, and also a little lower rate of duty on certain other articles. It is understood that the provisions of the bill are nearly all that they desire. It will be opposed by members from the East and West and the Central States, on the ground that it is wholly unfair in its provisions and uffords scarcely any protection to American Interests. The Cunadians are here in full force, with a few seedy Johny members who urge its passage at once, on the pica that something must be done before the old treaty expires.

The good faith of the people of the South has bren during the last ten months manifested in many different ways. A labor system which he habits, customs, and usages of many generations had rendered part and parcel of the South, was annihilated in a day, but despite the terrible temporary annoyances which its destruction vielted upon our people, they bore the change with wonderful fortitude and equanishity. H. McCULLOCH, Sccretary of the Treasury.

Mesers. Stevens and Sumner are 'learned in the law,' and it they be of sound mind they must know that the course they are pursuing is utterly subversive of our government. We mnet know that the course they are pursuing is niterly subversive of our government. We are aware that ambitious men, who could not be regarded as insane persons, have frequently undertsken to revolutionize governments, and that others suffering under tyrannical rulers have revolted; but here we have men occupying high and inflaential positions in the government, and controlling their party, who are endeavoring to pail down the very tabric which secures their own power and authority. If we believe them to be sane, the conclusion is inevitable that they must hope by rushing the government into anarchy to gain more power for themselves. No wise man believes that they can doeo—that the perpic would, when the restraint of law has been broken through, allow them to be their rulers. Nothing but the wildest insanity could induce Thaddeus Stewens or Charles Sammer to suppose that people who have been reared in a constitutional inepublic, and accusatomed to the freedom and protection which our laws afford, would permit him to be a king in this country, even if he should be willing to call himself by some more jopniar name. It these gentlemen be of sound mind, why do they strive to revolutionize the government? Let us suppose that they really ledieve that the negro is intellectually the equal of the white man, and that it is just and humane to accord bim all civil privileges; would any same man be willing to expose our government. o accord bim all civil privileges; would an accord be willing to expose our government the most literal one in existence, to imminen ie moet literal one in existence, to imminent eili—nay, to insure its destruction—in the ope of securing that equality? We may fairly yit down as an axiom that an insane person as be known by his doing what will greatly jure himself without a sufficient mytice. Next to being a bride herself, every young ady likes to be a bridesmald. Wedlock is thenght by a large proportion of the iboming sex to be contaglons, and, much to the credit of their conrage, fair spinsters are not at all straid of catching it. So far as official conduct is concerned, when you have seen one bridesmald you have seen the whole fascinating tribe. Their duty seems to be to treat the bride as a "victim led with garlands to the sacridee." They consider linecessary to exhort her to cheer up. Her fair assistants provide themselves with pungator essences lest she should faint at the trying anoment, which, between you and me, she has no more idea of doing than she has of dying. Puls true she sometimes tells them say "feels as If the should shak into the earth," and they respond, "Poor dear!" and apply the smelting-tottle; but she nevertheless goes through her unptial martyrdom with great fortlinde. In nine esses out of ten the bridegroom is more "flustered" than the fragile and lovely creature at his side; but nobody thinks of pitying him, poortellow! If one of the groomsmen does recombened him to take a glass of wine belore the ceremony, to "steady his nerves," the advice is tiven supercillously, as who should say—"What a spooney you are, old fellow!" B idesmaids may be causadered as brides in what lawyers sail the "inchoate" or inciplent state. They see looking forward to that day of triumphant weskness when it shall be their turn to be "poor dear creatures," and otherwise sustained and supported, as the law of unptial preteness directs. Let us hope that they may not be disapprointed.

Thank Heaven, he has falsided all our tears, and, as a pepile in whom gratitude is cherished as the chiefest of virtues we give him our "carnest and hearty support."

The President has prondly and marfully maintained his individuality in thus putting a check upon the mad and frenzied legislation of a few fantice into whose hands the country was apparently falling. It shows Messrs. Sumner, Stevens, & Co., that Andrew Johnson, as the Frainas term it, is the "Head Center" of this country, and that he has the will and the erre to countrol the aliairs of the Government according to his notions of the spirit and intent of the constitution, and that he will not indifferently or lightly approve any massure of Cengrees fraught with approve any massure of Gengrees fraught with approve and the people of any excetton. t the returning Persian conquercy, of more port than the oaken garlands of the Roman ing to from the nearts of the Southern people of the manywho has dared to defy the glant where in the dense. The same old tale was told in history arain. A Poland went down as the fate of Hungary was decided; as Ireland in all her stringles to be free was rewarded, so was it with the South. The sun of her nationality set, but only, we loped and believed, to be incorporated with the mighty national life that would dawn on the morrow.

Our night of probation has been long and in the darkness of its despair there was but one voice that iid us hope, one powerful hand that was ever extended to sid us, and this was the voice and hand of Andrew Johnson.

The South gave to the world Fremont, who was the first to throw away the scabbard and point the sword of destruction at the heart of her institutions. She gave birth to Lincoln who pressed them with his Iron hand from existence. Johnson was another whose lists breath was Southern. He rose among us from poverty to power, and now hin the depth of the distress of his native land railies to her defense. The land whose cainmilators say ever pressed down poverty in the rats of the road of life, gave this man, who was pennikes and friendless, name and station, and although he need, yet the instincts of nativity, the longings to stand by his native land, when weak and helpless she had no defense against her enemies, has prevailed, and the South now gives to Andrew Johnson the gratitude of a mother to the son, whose hand is her protection. we expressed it as our conviction last sum We expressed it as our conviction last summer that when the proper time came Mr. Johnson wond nobly stand or fall lu defense of the constitutional rights of the people of any or all sections of the country, and that If any one expected to ind in him the narrow and contracted views of a sectional man, before the expiration of his term they would be disappointed. The President has fully realized the hope to every true man in the country, that he would, as the Chief Executive, rise above all party and sectional piejudices, if he had any, and administer the affairs of State fairly and faithfully; and we believe that he is destined, at no distant day, to stand forth before the American people as the most pepular and best loved man of the age.

All honor to Andrew Johnson, the people's President!

BEAR TRAP.-We were shown yesterday ery tormidable trap for the destruction of winimals, and which has been found of great se animals, and which has been found of great ser-vice in the western wilds, both as affording sub-slat une to the adventurous hunters, and which alse croves the lonely settler in regions distant from the hannts of civilization as a protection against the ravages of voracious and danger-ous visitants to their corn-fields and homesteads in the shape of the flerce bear, the wolf, the bison and the buffalo. Talls weapon or trap is styled "Renthe's Patent Bear Trap," and is manufactured at Hartford, Connecticut and con-cite of a decreb barrelled blatch with the South gave Washington to the country and with him gave freedom. She gave Henry Clay ists of a double-barrelled platol with another parrel in the center end dividing the two pistolbarrels proper from each other, in which center barrels there are two long elliptic spring forks, spear-headed, which run out past the barrels month five and a half inches in advance, that is, the full length of the pistol-barrels, which are also five and a half inches long, and a tempting piece of flesh-meat being pieced upon the spear-heads, the targing of the animal causes the double-armed spear to extend within the jaws of the animal, and simultaneously the two loaded barrels expleded their contest of conical bails, thus causing justant death apon the poor animal, who has been satisfying his hunger at the expense of his saiety. Altogether this trapweapon is decidedly a most dangerous and formidable instrument, either for officasive or delensive purpasses, and its marderous qualities might fully commend it to our Ferian brethren to use as an effensive arm when they make their promised foray across the border. It would asswer their purpose very well indeed, for the spring spearentering the ribs of a Fenian opponent would be sure to hold him hard and fast intil he could conveniently be relieved of his money and any other valuables he might have for the purpose eyel or replenishing the Feulan warlor, or the mythical Fenian treasnry, without having recourse to the hard-earned-savings of the Bridget Maloneys, or the poor Irish laborers who have so long served as the dupes of the Feulan swindlers.

The President no longer makes a state secret the fact that he will in a very short time issue an efficial preclamation that the late city war is ended. When he does this he will have accomplished the last and highest act whithe Executive D. partment of the Government can perform toward the restoration of peace. The cannot compel Congress to admit Representatives from the Southern States, but hiproclamation will subordinate military to civil authority, and place all the States composing the Union upon a footing of equality in that respect Honiton.-There is a little English marks HONTON.—There is a little English matown in the county of Devon, situated it very feitile vale of the Otter. The privilege of the writ of haheas corp will then be within reach of the humblest of zen of the South, and our State Governmen will become supreme within the limits of t states for the protection of whose citizens the eieven States, will then only be potent for a control and punishment of those who are concetted with the army, in the manner defined läghts, which looks very sadiy out of place if out of the "Alexandria Constitution," wi

Two of then were sisters between slxty and seventy years of of three generations of queens, Adelaids, Vic-oris, and Alice. The third was a neighbor who or three generations of queens, Actaling, victoris, and Alice. The third was a neighbor who had diopped in with her work, and was plying her needle with her bonnet on. The work requires the nicest judgment and skill with the ingers. It is wlought on round, pinmp cusalons, and as the fignie progresses it is covered with a piece of clied silk, so that a very narrow strip is exposed at one to the dust or touch of the hand. By such precaution the lace is delivered to the salesroom, as pure and unsulled as the thread when given out. As it is all made by hand, it had to compete with the most elegant designs made by machinery in Nottlingham, and other places. Although the price paid for it by the bearer seems sufficiently high, and it still is considered the most perfect and durable stricle for the bridat of "asses of ladies of the nobility and of the blocal royal, yet the profit of the poor needle-womn in 1592-3 was scarcely a penny an hour. "It is a pity," says Mr. Burrit, "when they are so prond to wear it, that the artistee who clothe them with such tution and laws of the United States is concerned, there has been peace the most profound and undisturbed since the 1st of May last. The history of civil wars, ancient and modern, furnish no more remarkable and striking instance of the speedy and honest acquiecence in the result of a contest than the people of the South have done since their armies capitniated. The sun of the Confederacy sink, leaving no mirgin of gradually darkening twilight. The blackness of darkness lell upon the "lost canse" as rapidly as night follows the setting of the sun in Eastern countries.

The inexorable logic of the war convinced the people of eleven States with a rapidity without precedent in the history of the world. No thought of recistance to the Federal Govern. flower work should be so poorly paid."
